

MASAYA TAKAYAMA

CURRENT POSITION

President of the National Archives of Japan

EDUCATION

M. A. in Library and Information Science, Keio University (1970)

Completed the requirements of the coursework for a doctoral degree in Library and Information Science, Keio University (1981)

EXPERIENCE

President of the National Archives of Japan, 2009-Present

Senior Vice-President of the National Archives of Japan, 2005-2009

Professor Emeritus, Keio University, 2005

Counselor, National Diet Library, 1990-1994

Professor, Faculty of Letters, Keio University, 1985

Visiting Scholar, Library and Information Studies at the University of California, Berkeley, 1982-1983

Associate Professor, Keio University, 1980

PUBLICATIONS

MLA Renkei no Genjo Kadai Shorai (Current Status, Challenges and Prospects of the Cooperation among Museums, Libraries and Archives), Bensei Publishing Inc., 2010

Takayama, Masaya, and others. "An Outline of Data Storage and Search Services in Japan: Outline of the activities of Libraries, Archives and Museums in Japan." Encyclopedia of Library and Information Sciences. Marcia J. Bates ed., CRC Press, 2010, p.416

Kobunsho Runessanse (Public Records Renaissance), National Printing Bureau, 2005.

What did library movements leave? Professionalism of librarians (Book Review). Library Quarterly, Vol.72, No.3, 2002

Toshokan Keieiron (Library Management), Juseibo, 1998

Preparation for the Basic Structures of the Electronic Information Services in Japan. Proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Electronic Publishing, 1997, p.5-21