

RON SURETTE

Ron is currently the Director General, Digital Preservation Branch and CIO for the Library and Archives Canada. As part of his responsibilities, Mr. Surette is leading the Trusted Digital Repository program. He has considerable experience in the area of strategic planning, business transformation, information management and information technology, in both the private and public sector. During his 20 plus years in the public service, he has worked in various roles related to IM/IT for the Government of Canada. Ron has successfully led several innovative development projects that have made use of new and evolving technologies for solving complex business problems. Before joining the Canadian public service, he worked as a University Professor, an Information Systems Consultant and he also established a training institution that focused on providing managers with knowledge on the use of information systems. His current area of focus is on Trusted Digital Repositories, social modeling for archives, enterprise architecture, enterprise content management and Service Oriented Architecture (SOA).